The property described in this catalogue will be offered at public auction by Robert A. Siegel Auction Galleries, Inc. ("Galleries") on behalf of various consignors and itself or affiliated companies. By bidding on any lot, whether directly or by or through an agent, in person, or by telephone, facsimile or any other means, the bidder acknowledges and agrees to all of the following Conditions of Sale.

1. The highest bidder acknowledged by the auctioneer shall be the buyer. The term "final bid" means the last bid acknowledged by the auctioneer, which is normally the highest bid offered. The purchase price payable by the buyer will be the sum of the final bid and a commission of 15% of the final bid ("buyer's premium").

2. The auctioneer has the right to reject any bid, to advance the bidding at his discretion and, in the event of a dispute between bidders, to determine the successful bidder, to continue the bidding or to reoffer and resell the lot in dispute.

3. All bids are per numbered lot in the catalogue unless otherwise announced by the auctioneer at the time of sale. The right is reserved to group two or more lots, to withdraw any lot or lots from the sale, or to act on behalf of the seller. The Galleries will execute bidding instructions on behalf of clients, but will not be responsible for the failure to execute such bids or for any errors in the execution of such bids.

4. Lots with numbers followed by the symbol ° are offered subject to a confidential minimum bid ("reserve"); below which the lot will not be sold. The absence of the symbol ° means that the lot is offered without a reserve. If there is no reserve, the auctioneer has sole discretion to establish a minimum opening bid and may refuse an offer of less than half of the published estimate. Any lot that does not reach its reserve or opening bid requested by the auctioneer will be announced as "passed" and excluded from the prices realized lists after the sale. The Galleries may have a direct or indirect ownership interest in any or all lots in the sale resulting from an advance of monies or goods-in-trade or a guarantee of minimum net proceeds made by the Galleries to the seller.

5. Subject to the exclusions listed in 5(A), the Galleries will accept the return of lots which have been misidentified or which have obvious faults that were present when the lot was in the Galleries' custody, but not so noted in the lot description. All disputed lots must be received by the Galleries intact with the original packing material within 5 days of delivery to the buyer but no later than 30 days from the sale date. (5A) EXCLUSIONS: The following lots may not be returned for any reason: lots containing 10 or more items; lots from buyers who registered for the pre-sale exhibition or received lots by postal viewing, thereby having had the opportunity to inspect them before the sale; any lot described with "fault," "defects" or a specific fault may not be returned because of any secondary fault. Photographed lots may not be returned because of centering, margins, short/nibbled perforations or other factors shown in the illustrations. Lots may not be returned for any of the following reasons: the color of the item does not match the color reproduction in the sale catalogue or website listing; the description contains inaccurate information about the quantity known or reported; or a certification service grades a stamp lower than the grade stated in the description.

6. Successful bidders, unless they have established credit with the Galleries prior to the sale, must make payment in full before the lots will be delivered. Buyers not known to the Galleries must make payment in full within 5 days from the date of sale. The Galleries retain the right to demand a cash deposit from anyone prior to bidder registration and/or to demand payment at the time the lot is knocked down to the highest bidder, for any reason whatsoever. In the event that any buyer refuses or fails to make payment in cash for any lot at the time it is knocked down to him, the auctioneer reserves the right to reoffer the lot immediately for sale to the highest bidder. Credit cards (Visa, Mastercard and Discover only) can be accepted as payment but will be subject to a 3% Convenience Fee, which will be added to the total of the entire invoice (including hammer price, buyer's premium, shipping and transit insurance charges and any applicable taxes).

7. If the purchase price has not been paid within the time limit specified above, nor lots taken up within 7 days from the date of sale, the lots will be resold by whatever means deemed appropriate by the Galleries, and any loss incurred from resale will be charged to the defaulting buyer. Any account more than 30 days in arrears will be subject to a late payment charge of 1½% per month as long as the account remains in arrears. Any expenses incurred in securing payment from delinquent accounts will be charged to the defaulter. A fee of $250.00 per check will be charged for each check returned for insufficient funds.

8. All lots are sold as genuine. Any lot accompanied by a certificate issued by The Philatelic Foundation or by Professional Stamp Experts within 5 years of the sale date is sold "as is" and in accordance with the description on the certificate. Such lots may not be returned for any reason, including but not limited to a contrary certificate of opinion. Buyers who wish to obtain a certificate for any item that does not have a P.F. or P.S.E. certificate (dated as above) may do so, provided that the following conditions are met: (1) the purchase price must be paid in full, (2) the item must be submitted to an acceptable expertizing committee with a properly executed application form within 21 days of the sale, (3) a copy of the application form must be given to the Galleries, (4) in the event that an adverse opinion is received, the Galleries retain the right to resubmit the item on the buyer's behalf for reconsideration, without time limit or other restrictions, (5) unless written notification to the contrary is received, items submitted for certification will be considered cleared 90 days from the date of sale, and (6) in the event any item is determined to be "not as described", the buyer will be refunded the purchase price and the certification fee up to $600.00 unless otherwise agreed.

9. Until paid for in full, all lots remain the property of the Galleries on behalf of the seller.

10. Agents executing bids on behalf of clients will be held responsible for all purchases made on behalf of clients unless otherwise arranged prior to the sale.

11. The buyer assumes all risk for delivery of purchased lots and agrees to pay for prescribed shipping costs. Buyers outside the U.S. are responsible for all customs duties.

12. The bidder consents that any action or proceeding against it may be commenced and maintained in any court within the State of New York or in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York, that the courts of the State of New York and United States District Court for the Southern District of New York shall have jurisdiction with respect to the subject matter hereof and the person of the bidder. The bidder agrees not to assert any defense to any action or proceeding initiated by Galleries based upon improper venue or inconvenient forum. The bidder agrees that any action brought by the bidder shall be commenced and maintained only in a Federal Court in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York or the State Court in the county in which Galleries has its principal place of business in New York. These Terms and Conditions shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the substantive laws of the State of New York.

Grades, Abbreviations and Values Used in Descriptions

Grades and Centering

Our descriptions contain detailed information and observations about each item’s condition. We have also assigned grades to stamps and covers, which reflect our subjective assessment. For stamps, the margin width, centering and gum are described and graded according to generally-accepted standards (an approximate correlation to numeric grades is provided at right). Although we believe our grades are accurate, they are not always exactly aligned with third-party grading terms or standards for all issues. A lot may not be returned because a certification service grades a stamp lower than the grade stated in the description. Information from the P.S.E. Stamp Market Quarterly and P.S.E. Population Report™ is the most current available, but lots may not be returned due to errors or changes in statistics or data.

Extremely Fine Gem (90-100): The term “Gem” describes condition that is the finest possible for the issue. This term is equivalent to “Superb” used by grading services.

Extremely Fine (80-90): Exceptionally large/wide margins or near perfect centering.

Very Fine (70-85): Normal-size margins for the issue and well-centered with the design a bit closer to one side. “Very Fine and choice” applies to stamps that have desirable traits such as rich color, sharp impression, freshness or clarity of cancel.

Fine (60-70): Smaller than usual margins or noticeably off center. Pre-1890 issues may have the design touched in places.

Very Good (below 60): Attractive appearance, but margins or perforations cut into the design.

Scott Value for “O.G.”

Disturbed Original Gum: Gum showing noticeable effects of humidity, climate or hinging over more than half of the gum. The significance of gum disturbance in valuing a stamp in any of the Original Gum categories depends on the degree of disturbance, the rarity and normal gum condition of the issue and other variables affecting quality. For example, stamps issued in tropical climates are expected to have some gum disturbance due to humidity, and such condition is not considered a negative factor in pricing.

Covers

Minor nicks, short edge tears, flap tears and slight reduction at one side are normal conditions for 19th century envelopes. Folded letters should be expected to have at least one fold. Light cleaning of covers and small mends along the edges are accepted forms of conservation. Unusual covers may have a common stamp with a slight crease or tiny tear. These flaws exist in virtually all 19th century covers and are not always described. They are not grounds for return.

Catalogue Values and Estimates

Unless otherwise noted, the currently available Scott Catalogue values are quoted in dollars with a decimal point. Other catalogues are often used for foreign countries or specialized areas and are referred to by their common name: Stanley Gibbons (SG), Dietz, American Air Mail Catalogue (AAMC), Michel, Zumstein, Facit, etc. Estimates are indicated with an “E.” and reflect our conservative valuation in dollars. Reserves will never exceed the low end of the estimate range; they will sometimes exceed Scott Catalogue value for stamps in Extremely Fine condition.

Because of certain pricing inconsistencies in the Scott Catalogue—for example, blocks that have no gum, the absence of premiums for Mint N.H. items, etc.—we cannot guarantee the accuracy of values quoted for multiples, specialized items and collection lots. We generally try to be conservative, but buyers may not return a lot because of a discrepancy in catalogue value due to Scott pricing inconsistencies.

THE 1893 COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION ISSUE

INTRODUCTION

The World’s Columbian Exposition was held in Chicago in 1893 to promote industry, commerce, technology, the arts and social causes. Over 183 days, from May 1 to October 30, the Columbian Exposition attracted nearly 27 million visitors to the specially constructed “White City.” They came to see a spectacular array of exhibits, amusements and demonstrations, and to ride on the original Ferris Wheel.

The Columbian Exposition provided the Post Office Department with its first opportunity to capitalize on the increasingly popular hobby of stamp collecting with the country’s first commemorative postage stamps. During the planning stages in 1892, the Postmaster General in President Benjamin Harrison’s cabinet was John Wanamaker, a successful businessman and founder of Wanamaker’s department store. Postmaster General Wanamaker and his Third Assistant, General Abraham D. Hazen, sensed an opportunity to profit from stamp collectors by creating a special Columbian commemorative set. In the words of a commercial merchandising giant, Postmaster General Wanamaker reported:

The introduction of the Columbian series of postage stamps will contribute in a marked way to the great recognition given by the Government of the United States to the Columbian Exposition, and they will create for it, both in this country and abroad, an interest that will help it financially and in many other ways. In addition the ‘mania,’ as it is called, for collecting postage stamps, as specimens, is universal throughout the world. It affects every class and condition of people, and is not confined to age or sex. It is shared, perhaps, by millions of people, from the school boy and girl to the monarch and the millionaire, and the value of stamps in private collections which will never be drawn upon to pay postage may safely be placed at many millions of dollars. The beauty and unique character of the new Columbian stamps will cause their sale in large quantities simply for use in collections, and not only will they be purchased in single or partial sets by collectors, but in view of the limited time in which they will be issued they will be accumulated in great quantities by dealers and others to meet future demands... The net profits to be derived from their issue, that is, the extra amount beyond the ordinary revenue that would have resulted from the sale and use only of ordinary stamps, may be fairly placed at $2,500,000.

Wanamaker’s vision was prophetic, but his timing was off. President Harrison won the 1888 election for the Republican Party by defeating Grover Cleveland, who had been the first Democrat elected to office since the Civil War. Harrison’s term was overshadowed by financial and political troubles, and in 1892 Cleveland became the only president to ever win two non-consecutive terms. When the Columbian Exposition opened in May 1893, President Cleveland had been in office only two months, and his new appointee, Postmaster General Wilson S. Bissell, had inherited the Columbian stamps created by his predecessor. Dark clouds were already looming over the financial markets, and the stock market crash of June 27 led to the Panic of 1893 and the country’s most severe economic depression up to then. It was hardly the time to push the sale of costly commemorative postage.
The Columbian Issue Contract and Production

The sixteen Columbian stamps, commemorating the 400th anniversary (1492-1892) of Christopher Columbus’s voyage to America, were issued in denominations ranging from 1¢ to $5.00, for a total face value of $16.34—about $411 in today’s dollars. Fifteen of the stamps were ready for sale on Sunday, January 1, 1893. Since most post offices were closed on Sunday, the First Day of Issue is both January 1 and 2. The 8¢ was issued in March to pay the recently reduced registry fee. The 10¢ Special Delivery stamp was issued in 1893 in a new color—bright orange yellow—to avoid confusion between the blue Special Delivery stamp and blue Columbian stamps in the same shape and size.

Postmaster General Wanamaker skipped the usual bidding process and awarded the Columbian stamp contract to the American Bank Note Company, the printers who held the contract for printing regular postage stamps. The New York Times (October 3, 1893) criticized the former Postmaster General for paying 17¢ per thousand Columbian stamps versus 7.45¢ per thousand for the regular contract. American argued that the stamps’ larger size, roughly twice the 1890 designs, necessitated greater compensation on a per-stamp basis. The same article reported that Postmaster General Bissell was attempting to negotiate a settlement with American Bank Note Company to reduce the cost of the contract. In 1894 the responsibility for printing postage stamps was taken over by the government Bureau of Engraving and Printing, a crushing blow to private security printing firms such as American, whose fortunes rose and fell with government contracts.

The 1¢ and 2¢ values were printed from plates of 200 on the larger presses. The 2¢ was also printed from plates of 100 on the smaller presses, along with the rest of the series. The sheets of 100 were divided into panes of 50 for distribution to the post offices.

The stamps were printed on unwatermarked paper (watermarked paper was used for postage stamps by the BEP starting in 1895). There were two types of gum applied, differing in composition for winter and summer weather. The perforations, consistently gauge 12, come in two types: the first with clean-cut holes, and the second with roughly-punched holes and numerous unpunched discs between the perforation teeth. The latter perforations are typical of early BEP work and were probably applied to the supply of unfinished stock turned over by American to the BEP.

The Columbian Issue was on sale for one year. The quantities printed are known from official reports, but the quantities actually issued have not been fully documented. John N. Luff published figures from POD reports of certain denominations and quantities destroyed, but it is not known if these were all of the stamps destroyed. Contemporary newspapers reported that the entire supply of $1.00 Columbian stamps had been sold out to “speculators,” one of whom dressed in disguises to make 300 purchases at the Washington D.C. post office (The New York Times, May 5, 1894). Other sources state that some of the 55,050 $1.00 stamps printed were destroyed.

Use of Columbian Issue Dollar Values

The 50¢ was a new postage denomination, as were the dollar values (the highest previously issued was 90¢). Postmaster General Wanamaker’s own words make it clear that the Columbian stamps were issued to find a place in collectors’ albums, but contrary to contemporary criticism in the lay and philatelic press, the dollar-value stamps did pay legitimate postage rates on heavy packages.

In 1893 the domestic first-class rate was 2¢ per ounce, and the Universal Postal Union rate was 5¢ per half-ounce. A 4-ounce letter—heavy for a standard envelope—would require only 8¢ domestic or 40¢ UPU postage (registration was an additional 10¢ prior to March 1893, and 8¢ thereafter). However, heavy packages and insurance on registered UPU mail could require large amounts of postage. A 3-pound registered package to a UPU country required nearly $5.00 postage, including the registry fee, so there was a reasonably low threshold for using a $5.00 Columbian stamp. For this reason, $1.00, $2.00 and $5.00 denominations were issued in the non-commemorative 1894-95, 1902-03 and subsequent definitive series.
The Columbian high values were sold and cancelled to satisfy collector demand, especially in Europe, where used stamps were more popular. Some of the stamps intended for collectors were sold and cancelled at fourth-class post offices to raise the postmaster’s compensation, a portion of which was rebated to the customer buying the stamps. Fourth-class postmasters did not receive salaries, but earned a commission based on the annual revenue for box rentals and cancelled stamps, as well as for other goods or services provided. In exchange for buying the high-value Columbian stamps and having them cancelled at the post office, the postmaster would give the customer a kickback paid from his commissions, thereby reducing the cost of the stamps.

Evidence of one such scheme is found in government records and philatelic material offered in this sale. The postmaster of the small coal mining town of Cato, Pennsylvania—S. M. Buck—applied to the government for a $44.75 adjustment to his compensation for three quarters in 1892 and 1893 (Secretary of the Treasury, Estimate of Appropriations, Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1895). The dollar-value Columbian covers postmarked at Cato were obviously “hand-back” covers used in the kickback scheme (lots 141-143).

In March 1894 the government brought fraud charges against Charles H. Mekeel, the St. Louis stamp dealer and publisher, and a group of postmasters. The case was dismissed by the judge on the grounds that citizens were permitted to buy stamps, and postmasters were free to share their compensation with them, thus no crime had been committed.

The Columbian Issue Engravers and Designs

Aesthetically, the Columbian stamps were a significant departure from previous issues. The larger horizontal format was an innovation that would become dominant in commemorative issues to follow. The depictions on the stamps are miniature works of art, based on paintings, drawings and sculpture that romanticize (or invent) the story of Columbus and his voyage to America. They are extraordinary examples of the engraver’s art and the most prized of all United States commemorative stamps.

The entire set was designed by Alfred S. Major, foreman of the Modeling Department at the American Bank Note Company and a future director. The engravers responsible for the figurative elements of the designs were Alfred Jones, Charles Skinner and Robert Savage. Work on the frames, lettering and numerals was accomplished by Douglas S. Ronaldson and George H. Seymour.

The following pages present information about each Columbian stamp, including the source or basis of the design, the engravers responsible for the different elements, and the quantity printed and/or issued.

COMPLETE SET OF “SPECIMEN” OVERPRINTS

2° 1c-$5.00 Columbian, “Specimen” Ovpt. Ty. E (230S-E to 245S-E). Complete set, 1c-$1.00 original gum, $4.00 and $5.00 traces of original gum, others unused (no gum), rich colors, each with neat purplish “Specimen” handstamp, some reading up, most applied diagonally, few minor flaws as almost always
FINE-VERY FINE APPEARANCE. A RARE COMPLETE SET OF THE 1893 COLUMBIAN ISSUE WITH SPECIMEN OVERPRINT TYPE E.

The full set of Columbians is only known with the Specimen Type E, which is hand-stamped in dull purple. Only two plate blocks of six and one plate block of eight are recorded for the $2.00 Columbian. They are:

1) The unique imprint and plate no. 105 block of eight offered in our sale of the MLG Collection (Siegel Sale 971, lot 1163, realized $205,000 hammer)

2) Bottom imprint and plate no. 105 block of six, lightly hinged, tiny sealed tear in selvage, ex Lilly and Kobacker

IMPRINT AND PLATE NUMBER BLOCK OF SIX

$3.00 Columbian (243). Top imprint and plate no. 106 block of six, four stamps Mint N.H., two stamps at bottom left h.r. where perf separations sensibly reinforced, pretty shade

FINE-VERY FINE. AN EXCEEDINGLY RARE IMPRINT AND PLATE NUMBER BLOCK OF SIX OF THE $3.00 COLUMBIAN ISSUE. THIS EXAMPLE FROM THE TOP POSITION COULD BE UNIQUE.

We have only been able to locate three $3.00 Columbian plate blocks:

1) Top position, the example offered here, ex Crocker as a plate block of ten (November 1958), then offered in a Eugene Klein auction in August 1940 as a plate block of six and block of four, with the option to keep it together (photo shows the intact block of ten), and Siegel 1988 Rarities sale in its present form

2) Bottom plate no. 106, plate no. at right, ex Lilly and Kobacker

3) Bottom plate no. 106, plate no. at right, narrow selvage, no gum, top left stamp slight thin, well-centered, ex Franklin J. Willock (Harmer, Rooke sale, Jan. 13, 1953, lot 429) and 1980 Manning sale.

Ex Crocker as a plate block of ten. With 1988 P.F. certificate. The Scott Catalogue value, at $95,000.00, is far too low, probably because none have come on the market since the 1991 Kobacker sale. We have estimated this based on realizations for other dollar-value plate blocks. .......................................................... E. 150,000-200,000

Two plate blocks of six are also known, one of which is offered in this sale as lot 59 (Scott value $125,000.00). FINE APPEARANCE. THE LARGEST RECORDED MULTIPLE OF THE $2.00 COLUMBIAN ISSUE. A REMARKABLE MULTIPLE REPRESENTING $50.00 OF POSTAGE.

Large multiples of dollar-value Columbian stamps are extremely rare. The largest recorded unused multiples are as follows: $1.00, sheet of 100; $2.00, the block of 22 offered here (followed by an original-gum block of 20); $3.00, imprint and plate number block of six, assuming the block of eight in 1969 Rarities sale has been broken up; $4.00, imprint and plate number block of ten; and $5.00, the block of fourteen offered in this sale.

Multiples of the dollar-value Columbians represented a sizable investment at the time. For example, in 1893 the average annual salary of a pressman in the government printing office was $1,002, or $19.27 per week, so this multiple represents almost three week’s salary for the person who printed it.

The $70.00 in postage represented by this block is equal to $1,766.44 in today’s money. This represents almost a month’s worth of wages for a pressman employed by the Government Printing Office, who made on average $1,002 per year. (source: Monthly Labor Review).

END OF MORNING SESSION
The Columbian Issue became available for sale in New York City on the official First Day of Issue—Sunday, January 1, 1893—and the New Year’s Day newspapers reported that the sale of stamps “began at midnight last night in the General Post Office” and that they “will be on sale this morning at the various branch offices between the hours of nine and eleven o’clock.” The extremely limited availability of Columbian stamps on January 1st has created an unusual classification of First Day of Issue covers, with both Sunday, January 1, and Monday, January 2, recognized as First Days. In Chicago, where the Exposition would be opened five months later, the December 31, 1892, newspapers reported that the stamps had arrived, but the postmaster was under orders to hold the release of the new issue until Tuesday, January 3, which creates yet a third official First Day of Issue (in Chicago).

Certain postmasters were evidently willing to give preferred customers an early taste of the new issue, based on the existence of five covers dated December 31, 1892, with 1¢ (two), 2¢ (two) and 10¢ (one) Columbian stamps. Three of these pre-First Day covers are offered as lots 106-108 in this sale.

Columbian postage stamps to the number of 15,000,000 are now locked in one of Uncle Sam’s strong boxes in this city. They will be jealously guarded until Tuesday morning, when Commodore Cattlin will begin the distribution in accordance with the departmental orders.

Daily Inter Ocean, Chicago, December 31, 1892, announcing that the sale of Columbian Issue in Chicago would begin on Tuesday, January 3

The sale of the new Columbian postage stamps began at midnight last night in the General Post Office. They will be on sale this morning at the various branch offices between the hours of nine and eleven o’clock.

These stamps will be used during the present year only and therefore they are in demand by stamp collectors. The little Queen of Holland, however, will have a complete set. So, several weeks ago her Consul General in this city received her order to make the purchase and of course he will not disobey.

The Columbian stamps were issued at the suggestion of Mr. Asa Clapp, Postmaster of the South Chicago Post Office, who was eager to have the stamps issued locally and to have them bear the name of the city. The stamps were designed by Mr. W. H. Wood, who was also the designer of the One Cent Stamp of the United States.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1892

The official First Day of Issue for the Columbian stamps (excluding the 8c) was January 1, 1893, which was a Sunday, when most post offices were closed. Therefore, January 2 is accepted as the alternate First Day of Issue. Five covers with three denominations are known used on pre-dated December 31, 1892 covers, including two 1c (one offered in this sale as lot 106, and the other ex Martin — Siegel Sale 954, lot 312, realized $15,500 hammer), two 2c (lot 107) and one 10c (lot 108). Six denominations are known used on Sunday, January 1 — these are the famous Burger covers, of which there are two sets (one is offered as lot 109 in this sale).

The official First Day of Issue for the Columbian stamps (excluding the 8c) was January 1, 1893, which was a Sunday, when most post offices were closed. Therefore, January 2 is accepted as the alternate First Day of Issue. However, a few covers are known that were stamped and mailed on Sunday, January 1st. The best known of this elusive group are the two sets of covers prepared by the Burger Brothers, two famous New York City stamp dealers.

The only recorded Sunday, January 1, 1893, Columbian covers are franked with the 1c (three); 2c (five) and two each of the 3c, 4c, 5c and 10c. Therefore, this remarkable group represents a complete set of January 1st First Day Covers. One other set is known, all cancelled by the duplex marking, offered in our auction of the Schwartz Collection (Siegel Sale 952, lot 290, realized $110,000 hammer). Stamp collectors were by far the most prolific users of Columbian stamps above the 2¢ denomination. The first commemorative stamps also inspired philatelic-minded correspondents to create covers with complete or part sets, affixed together on one large envelope or on a series of envelopes. These covers are characterized as “philatelic,” meaning that the colorful frankings and other unusual features were deliberately prepared for collectors. Philatelic covers survive as artifacts of the Gilded Age, when collectors such as Ayer, Deats, Ferrary, Tapling and others were investing extraordinary sums of money in building the world’s first monumental collections of stamps.

The most desirable Columbian philatelic covers are those with dollar values and the few with complete sets. An outstanding study of the Columbian dollar-value stamps and covers was published by Dr. Richard M. Searing in the Chronicle (1990-1992, available to U.S. Classics Society members on line at www.uspcs.org). Dr. Searing’s census has been updated by Mike Ludeman, who generously provided our firm with an advance copy of his current census data and draft article (to be published after completion). Information from this source is identified in the sale catalogue as coming from the 2013 Ludeman Columbian Dollar-Value Cover Census.

There are approximately 300 covers in the Ludeman census, including 220 entries from the original Searing census (after removing duplicates) and about 80 additional covers.

There are seven covers and one wrapper recorded with all sixteen Columbian commemorative stamps (one has the 10¢ Orange Special Delivery, Scott E3). There is also one pair of small covers with all denominations divided between them.

Curiously, there is no known cover dated prior to the March 2, 1893, issue date for the 8¢ Columbian that has the other 15 values, which would represent a complete Columbian set in January and February 1893.

In organizing the dollar-value covers in this collection for sale, a new approach has been used, which we believe better conveys the historical circumstances of use. Following the complete sets, the covers prepared by or for certain individuals are offered in groups. Viewed together, with a common sender and/or recipient, the feel of the Gilded Age philatelic scene is preserved.

Adams, Milton A. Adams, Oct. 8, 1942” and “M A Adams”

Fine appearance. The $49.34 in postage on this registered package wrapper is the largest recorded franking on any Columbian issue cover. A magnificent showpiece.

The postal clerk responsible for processing registered mail at the Bangor, Maine, post office applied the “Bangor, Maine, Feb. 19, 1897, Registry Dept.” three-line datestamp and cancelled all of the stamps in the same dark blue ink. On the same day, a United States passport was issued in Bangor to one of its wealthiest residents, Frederick Wellington Ayer (1855-1936). Ayer obtained his passport in preparation for his trans-Atlantic voyage to England on board the S.S. St. Paul, which departed from New York on February 24, 1897. This sailing exactly matches the directive on the package wrapper.

Ayer was president of the Eastern Manufacturing Company of Brewer, Maine, and a noted antique collector and authority. Between 1892 and 1897 Ayer embarked on a philatelic buying spree, spending (by some reports) as much as $750,000 on his collection, some of it with borrowed money (Bierman, The World’s Greatest Stamp Collectors, page 95). When Fred’s conservative banker-father, Nathan Chase Ayer, learned of his son’s extravagant philatelic spending, he presented Fred with a choice between liquidation or disinheritance. Fred chose the former. Beginning in 1897 portions of the Ayer collection were sold through Charles J. Phillips of London and Warren H. Colson. The balance of the collection was sold in 1903 and 1904 to the New England Stamp Company.

Based on the origin, mailing date, sailing directive and the fact that Ayer entrusted Charles J. Phillips with the sale of his collection in 1897, one may reasonably conclude that the original package contained Ayer’s stamp albums, which he sent by insured registered mail to England on the same ship he boarded on February 24, 1897. Ayer hoarded Columbian stamps, and these straight-edge and off-center copies would have been a collector’s choice for use on mail.

The creator of these beautiful printed envelopes was Charles F. Gunther, a prominent Chicago confection manufacturer and history enthusiast. He is sometimes credited with introducing caramel to the United States. His purchases of historical artifacts included Lincoln’s deathbed and the desk upon which Lee surrendered to Grant. A Civil War buff, he purchased and dismantled the main building of Libby Prison in Richmond, then reassembled it in Chicago to house his collection. His attempts to purchase an Egyptian pyramid and Philadelphia’s Independence Hall were unsuccessful.

Dr. Robert D. Locke, to whom most of the recorded Gunther covers are addressed, was the son of a well-known Episcopal minister in Chicago. Curiously, according to The New York Times, Dr. Locke was arrested a few years later, on April 10, 1895, on charges of assault with a deadly weapon while intoxicated.

The halftone illustration on each envelope depicts the framed portrait of Columbus painted by (or attributed to) Sir Antonis Mor van Dashorst (ca. 1517-1577), a Netherlands portrait artist who was known by several names, including the one associated with this painting, Antonio Moro. In this depiction, Columbus has a goatee and is dressed in 16th century fashion. Nonetheless, it was acclaimed by some to be a true likeness of Columbus, having been painted from miniatures made for the Royal Court. Charles F. Gunther acquired the painting in 1891 from Raymond Groom in London, and it was displayed at the 1893 Columbian Exposition and 1901 Pan-American Exposition. Gunther also promoted his prized painting by having envelopes printed with an illustration and his name, which were distributed at the time of the Columbian Exposition.

The 10c “Columbian Exposition Registration Stamp” is considered to be a philatelic “Cinderella,” but according to some sources, it was intended to serve a purpose at the Exposition. The stamp was reported (possibly for the first time) by L. H. Benton in an article in the January 10, 1894, issue of The Weekly Philatelist. It is believed that the registration stamps were sold to attendees of the exposition for use in checking parcels at the various State buildings. The Bureau of Public Comfort was originally supposed to provide this service, but the lack of manpower and appropriations caused it to be abandoned. Instead, separate concessions were established in State buildings, usually in a room adjoining the State’s post office. When a visitor wished to check a valuable parcel, the 10c daily charge was paid with the special registration stamp. Proceeds from each concession went to the respective State Building Exhibit Committee. After the registration stamps were used, they were to be removed from the parcel and destroyed.

It was described by Dr. Richard M. Searing as “one of the most spectacular small [Columbian] covers” and arguably “the most valuable Columbian cover in existence” (Chronicle 148, page 249).

Adjusted for inflation, the $14.05 in postage on this envelope is the equivalent of $353.55 in today’s money. Remarkably, the envelope was fed through the machine cancelling device three times to cancel the stamps. The $3.00 was only touched by the machine bars, so the duplex device was applied by hand to more fully cancel the stamp. The “PM” in duplex and “AM” in machine cancel indicate that the duplex was applied later.

The addressee’s name elicited inconclusive genealogical data, but it is possible that the sender was William C. Metzner (born in 1850 in Wisconsin), who owned a large stove repair company in Chicago.

Shipping and Transit Insurance

We will be pleased to arrange for shipping and transit insurance for purchases in this sale (except those described as “floor sale only”). To expedite billing and delivery of lots to hundreds of buyers per sale, we use standard charges for postage and insurance, based on the package weight and mailing requirements (see schedule). The standard charges are sometimes slightly more or less than the actual postage or Fedex fees, but we do not include any charge for our labor or packing costs. Therefore, we ask all buyers to remit the prescribed amount for shipping charges.

Transit insurance is provided in all cases, except when the buyer has furnished us with proof that insurance coverage is effective under another policy. Proof, in such cases, will be accepted in the form of a written certificate from the insurance carrier.

You are responsible for insurance charges, which will be added to your invoice. This coverage is provided for our mutual protection against theft or loss in transit.

Bidding Increments

The auctioneer may regulate the bidding at his discretion. However, to assist absentee bidders in establishing their maximum bid for each lot, the increments shown at right will be used in most cases. We recommend that written bids conform to these increments (those which do not will be reduced to the next level).
